

2012 Survival Onsite

Presented by

North Carolina Septic Tank Association

HICKORY METRO CONVENTION CENTER, HICKORY NC

JANUARY 26-27, 2012

The North Carolina Septic Tank Association hopes you can join us at the 2012 Survival Onsite and participate with other industry leaders in the presentation of new products and services in the fields of decentralized wastewater, water harvesting, stormwater control, and total water resources.

NCSTA will be changing the format of the convention this year to hopefully give you more time with attendees. There will be several breaks throughout each day as usual, however this year instead of holding a gala in the evening we will be hosting “Live at 5”. Classes will end at 5:00 p.m. on Thursday. In the exhibit hall finger foods and a cash bar will be setup available to all event attendees. This will allow you to have time with the attendees in a relaxed atmosphere. Door prizes will be given away at each break during the day.

The 50/50 drawing and TV giveaway will take place at “Live at 5”.

Now more than ever reaching your target audience with your marketing dollars is very important.
