Membership Information

The North Carolina Septic Tank Association (NCSTA) is a non-profit onsite wastewater trade association established in 1990 with the following objectives:

- To advance the standards of the onsite wastewater industry in North Carolina and to create uniform rules for the protection of the environment, the public health and the investment of North Carolina citizens;
- To establish a network of communication with its members and allied organizations and agencies;
- To establish a relationship with the legislative and regulatory authorities that promotes the protection and the advancement of all aspects of onsite wastewater industry and septage disposal;
- To inform and educate the people of North Carolina as to the value and sustainability of onsite wastewater systems and septage disposal;
- To protect and advance sound technology and sound ecological practices in the establishment of regulations for all individuals involved in the onsite wastewater and septage disposal industry.

Membership in NCSTA includes many benefits to your company. The following types of memberships are available:

- General Membership. General Members shall be any person representing a firm, association, corporation or other entity engaged directly as the (I) state approved tank manufacturer, (II) certified installer, (III) septage management firm permit holder (IV) certified inspector of onsite wastewater systems. Only General Members shall have full voting privileges.
- Associate Membership. Any person whose technical or professional expertise is deemed significant; such as professional engineers, licensed soil scientist, site evaluators, and/or site designers for onsite wastewater systems. The Associate Members will not have voting privileges.
- Supplier Membership. Any person, firm, or corporation doing business with, but not limited to, the General Members of The Association. Supplier members shall not have voting privileges.

Applying for a NCSTA membership is simple and easy. Complete the membership application and submit with membership fee of $300.00. NCSTA membership is an annual membership and expires each January.
